ONLY TWO LARGE GAMES

THE COLLEGE FOOT-BALL SEASON

WILL CLOSE THIS WEEK.

Match Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- The college football season will wind up this week with two important games. On Thursday Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania meet in Philadelphia, and on Saturday Yale and Princeton will play at Manhattan Field. The Harvard-Pennsylvania match promises to be one of the greatest games of the season. The victory of the Quakers over the Tigers two weeks ago at Trenton, and Harvard's fine showing against Yale at Springfield are causing the critics to speculate as to the proba-ble outcome. Harvard will probably be somewhat crippled by the injuries re-ceived by C. Brewer, Wrightington and Hallowell. With such a wonderful kick-er as Brooke Pennsylvania will undoubtedly have an advantage, for Brooke is recognized as superior to either Thorne or Butterworth, and consequently a better recognized as superior to either Thorne or Butterworth, and consequently a better punter than any man on the Harvard team. Knipe and Osgood are expected to make good gains through Harvard's line, but it is doubtful it they do any better than against Princeton's rushers, as the Cambridge line developed unexpected strength on Saturday, especially in stopping the plunges of the Yale backs. The Pennsylvania line has full as strong, if not stronger, men than Harvard's, which should count. Harvard's linterierence and attack are more effective than the same qualities shown by Princeton or Pennsylvania, which should help carry the ball into the Quaker's territory further than the thirty-yard line. A conservative critic claims that both sides should score, with good and bad luck cutting considerable lee in the final result.

Those persons who have predicted that Yale would beat Princeton by a score of is to 9 have evidently changed their minds since the game Saturday. If Butterworth is unable to play that will give Princeton more of a chance than ever before. Should Morphy also be incapacitated, that would leave a hole in Yale's line hard to fill. The strain undergone by the Yale players against Harvard will also be feit by Hinkey's men, while the Princeton team should be in better physical condition. On the whole, the odds favor a victory for Yale, but the score will not be large. If Princeton's offensive play could equal Harvard's, however, the New Haven players might find themselves in a tight place.

There is some talk that the college faculties may step in and stop the contests, because of the brutality that marked the Yale-Harvard match, but owing to the many arrangements that have been made, and the large number of tickets that have been sold, such action is hardly probable.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—During the morning hour speculation at the Stock exchange was practically at a standstill, except for Eric and Northwestern, which were affected by special causes. Eric was pressed for saic on the general belief that the statement for the year would be unfavorable, and Northwestern was inclined to weakness because of sailes by professional traders and others who were confident that the dividend would have to be reduced. Subsequent events proved the correctness of both theories. There was a new and commencable departure in the method of making public the Northwestern dividend, the rairoad officials having communicated the decision to the chairman of the Stock Exchange, who made a public announcement from the rostrum. Just previous to 12:30 P. M., the time agreed upon for the announcement, brokers gathered around the chairman, and everybody was on the qui vive to learn, the decision of the directors. A rumor then got afloat that the regular rate had been declared. This started a nervous short into covering, and the purchases for this account led to a rise from 90% to 90. Chicago, Burilington and Quincy, St. Paul, and other stocks, which are heavily oversold, also moved up at this time. Then came the official announcement of the declaration of 1% per cent, quarterly on the preferred and 2% per cent, semi-annually on the common, the latter a reduction of ½ per cent, for the six months, Many brokers misunderstood the chairman, and thinking that the common dividend had been reduced to 1% per cent, sold the stock. They quickly realized their mistake and bought back their stock. As a result, the common recovered to 1% and 15% per cent, sold down to 50%. Rock Island to 61%, and THE COTTON MARKETS.

CHICAGO. ILL. Nov. 27.—Vesterday's buyers of wheat indulged in the pleasant occupation of realizing profits to-day, but the price got away from them before the close, although early in the day the decline met with stubborn resistance. The Liverpool cables were firm and higher, and the bulls were disposed at the start to press the advantage they had gained yesterday, but the futility of such a course made itself apparent in a very few minutes. Until noon fluctuations were irregular, a firm undertone making itself felt, but the publication of Bradstreet's report, which treated only of American stocks, giving an intrins of 2,297,000 bushels, the direction was clearly defined, the market having absolutely no support. tains of 2,207,000 bushels, the direction was clearly defined, the market having absolutely no support. Closing continental cables were all higher. May wheat opened from 60kc, to 55kc, closing at 100kc, 54kc, under yesterday. Cash wheat was irregular. The close was nominally weaker, with the futures. Corn—To-day's trade in corn was simply a repetition of what has taken place any day for a week past. The receipts loomed up and the price fell down. The weakness of the tone of wheat may have had a part in forming the tone, but there was little or no inclination to follow that market on the railles. May opened from 48kc, and 48kc, closing at 48kg/48kc, 4akc, under yesterday. Cash corn was kc, lower.

Outs were quiet and extremely narrow in their action. The strength and weakness of the surrounding markets was reflected by a hardening or softening of the tone, but fluctuations had held within a 4c. limit. May closed ke lower than yesterday. Cash oats were steady.

Provisions—Strength in product came forward from the hog market at the yards at the start, and wheat communicated weakness later in the day. The trade was not noticeably important and prices were affected easily. The close was 17kc, under yesterday for January pork, 10c, lower for January lard, and 10c, for January ribs.

BAD NEWS FOR PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—The University training house was again the scene of activity yesterday. The trip to Springfield to witness the Yale-Harvard game has been far from beneficial to the condition of the University players. A diet of railroad pie is hardly a good thing for foot-ball men, and neither are long railroad journeys good. The nervous strain of witnessing such a contest as the very lively one of Saturday the players one and all declare to be worse than playing in the game itself. It is now generally admitted that it would have been much better to have sent several experienced men to witness the play and kept the rest hard at work at home. However, while the trip has done no good to the men, as was expected, it is not believed that any harm has resulted.

Wagonhurst is fast rounding into chape again, and should be in fine condition by next Thursday. Wharton will be able to play his usual magnificent game, while all the other players are as good as ever physically, with the exception of Captain Knipe. It looks probable now that the sturdy Pennsylvania leader will not be able to take part in the last and most important game of his foot-ball career. This is had news to Fennsylvania followers, who saw the effect of his absence on the interference in the Cornell game. His knee is in very bad shape, but every effort will be made to round him up into fair condition. His knee is in very bad shape, but every effort will be made to round him up into fair condition.

Last night the foot-ball squad, including both regulars and substitutes, left the city for secret practice. The destination is the Delaware Water Gap, where they prepared for the battle against Princeton. The fine bracing all had a wonderful effect in their former visit, the players being eager for work while they were in the mountains. Captain Knipe has with him the following men: Full-backs, Orgood, Gelbert, Thomas, Worth, and Bassett, quarter-backs, Williams and Blair; ends. Dickson, Rosengarten and Upton: tacklers, Minds, Wagonhurst, Parrar and Off; guards, Wharton, Woodruff and Hancock, and centre-rush Bull.

Preparations for the game are progressing. The east and west stands are entirely finished on the University grounds, the south stand is completed, all except a few rows, while the north stand is just taking shape. The field has an imposing effect with the 25,000 seats rising about it, and yet from to-day's sale it looks as if all the people could not be accommodated.

to order by the vice-president, Mr. J. P. Saddler.

The resignation of Mr. J. H. Franklin as reporter to the College Messenger was received, and Mr. R. A. Anderson was elected to fill this position.

It was the pleasure of the society to listen to a paper on "Virginia's Part in the Early Councils and Conventions," by Mr. J. P. Saddler. This paper is the second of a series to be read before the society showing Virginia's part in the Revolution, and was a very interesting and instructive one.

Messrs. G. F. Hambleton and C. E. Stuart were appointed a committee to draft resolutions thanking Hon. Lyon G. The Yale Faculty Will Take No steps to St-p It.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 27.—The condition of the Yale foot-bail players is so much better than the coachers hoped for after Saturday's conflict that there seems little doubt that Yale will present the same team against Princeton next Saturday as played at Springfield against Harvard. All of the team were on the field at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon except Jerrems and Butterworth, Jerrems is up and around, and his injuries are con-sidered slight compared to the fears ex-pressed last night. Butterworth is in New York, where he is consulting an oculist, not so much for the injury which he re-ceived in the Harvard game as for some general disaffection of the eyes which has troubled him since his return to college last fail. The Harvard-Pennsylvania Game Thursday and the Great Yal -. Princeton general disaffection of the eyes which has troubled him since his return to college last fail.

The practice yesterday afternoon was very light, there being no opposition play on the part of the second eleven. Murphy was on hand as bright as a new dolar, and did not appear to be suffering from the rough handling in Saturday's contest. Dr. Josh Hartwell, who looks after the physical welfare of the eleven, says that the team as a whole is in better condition than it was a year ago after the Harvard game. It is pretty generally agreed that last year's team was over-trained, and the loss of the Princeton game is attributed to this.

The talk of Saturday's game still goes on in college circles, and it is generally admitted that it was the roughest game Yale has ever participated in. Herfelinger, who has played in as many sames as any of the coashes or present members of the team, says, in a significant manner, that it was a rough game. Several members of the faculty have discussed this unofficially, and a rumor was current on the campus to-day that a special meeting of the faculty would be called to take some action in the matter, and perhaps prohibit the Princeton game.

President Dwight and Profs. Henry P. Wright and Eugene L. Richards all affirm that no special meeting of the faculty has been called. All intimate that the present season of foot-ball is not to be regarded as a test of foot-ball at Yale. Professor Wright, dean of the academic faculty, stated that he did not know of any reason why the Yale-Princeton game should not be played.

It seems very probable that the players stated that he did not know of any reason why the Yale-Princeton game should not be played.

It seems very probable that the players will receive a caution before entering the Princeton game not to play roughly, and it is more than probable that some influential member of the faculty, perhaps Prof. Eugene L. Richards, will say something to the men before they leave for New York on Friday. Professor Richards is greatly loved by every student in Yale. He is the champion of athletics in the faculty, and a word from him would have as much weight as any wish of the combined faculty expressed by a manimous vote. The whole sentiment of the University, from President Dwight down to the most unimportant freshman, is firmly set against any further exhibitions such as that of last Saturday.

In the past the faculty have never interfored with athletic matters so long as athletics did not interfere with the scholarship of the students, and there seems to be no disposition to do so at this time. These matters have regulated themselves heretofore, the students taking the initiative where wrongs existed and righting them. This will probably be the course now.

The Yale News, the daily organ of the them. This will probably be the course now.

The Yale News, the daily organ of the University, to-day said editorially relative to last Saturday's Yale-Harvard football game: "After a hard-fought battle the heroic exertions of Captain Hinkey and his men have won the annual Spring-field game for the fourth successive time for Yale. While giving our eleven the highest praise, we must not omit to note the splendid showing and plucky fight made by Harvard.

"The one unfortunate feature of the contest was the rough play by both sides. Its prevention was the chief object of the new rules, and it is much to be regretted that they falled to accomplish their purpose. The arrangements at the grounds were perfect, and the train service all that could be desired. In regard to the spirif displayed by the Yale sympathizers, we feel bound to say that their listlessness, as shown by the miserably poor cheering, was disgraceful.

THE GAME ATSTAUNTON.

The Line Up of the V. A. and Mechanical

Princeton men expected Yale to put up a stronger offensive game than they saw at Springfield, and now they are getting saucy enough to talk of their team on scoring against old Life sons. They all regret the roughness of Naturday's game, and have emphatically spoken their determination to make the Manhattan game a pleasing contrast in this regard. Unless Yale is determined to have a rough game it will not be rough.

There is not a man on the Princeton team who now at least does not think that he would rather the his hands to his side than be guilty of opening a singging match. Whether the heat of a hard battle will knock these resolutions out of College-Interest in the Contest, BLACKSBURG, VA., Nov. 27.-Special. BLACKSBURG, VA., Nov. 27.—Special.—The chief topic of conversation and interest here at present is the foot-ball game at Staunton on Thanksgiving Day between the teams of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and the Virginia Military Institute. The team and substitutes leave to-morrow morning.

Through the courtesy of Mr. W. B. Bevill, of the Norfolk and Western railroad, and the efforts of Dr. McBryde, a special train will leave Christiansburg for Staunton at 10 P. M. Wednesday, About two hundred and fifty cadets and friends of the college will go to witness the game. The game will perhaps be very exciting, as both are good teams. Neither side has been scored against this year, and it will be a hard-fought battle for victory and supremacy.

On Friday evenlog, the 2th instant, the V. A. M. C. German Club will give its annual Thanksgiving german. It will he quite a brilliant affair, and many couples are expected to attend. that he would rather the his hands to also side than be guilty of opening a singsins match. Whether the heat of a hard battle will knock these resolutions out of their minds can only be sure when the game is over. They are of the opinion that every rough game this year is a black eye to the sport, and, though they consider the talk that the Manhattan game should be called off because of the roughness of the Springfield game is foolishness, yet they do feel that the future of the sport depends upon a clean game being played on Saturday, and they, at least, will go upon the field with the determination to do their part to redeem the game from the popular dissatisfaction which the Springfield match occasioned. There is a difference of opinion among the men who attended the game about the justice of ruling out Fairchilds' goal, though most of them are of the opinion that the ruling as to the safety was fair. The majority of them seem to think that the rightful score of the game was 12 to 9 in Yale's favor.

FROM A DISTANT COUNTRY. Lieutenant Harman, a Virginian, Writes

From Oklahema.

Licutenant John A. Harman, of the Seventh Cavalry, after having been detailed for the past three years as commandant of the cadet battallon of the Virginia Agricustural and Mechanical Institute at Blacksburg, last summer received orders to join his command at Fort Hill. Oklahoma, early in September last. Licutenant Harman has guite a rumber of friends and relatives in Richmond, who, no doubt, will be glad to learn that he is doing well. In a letter written recently to a friend in this city Licutenant Harman stated the following.

Lieutenant Harman stated the following:

"I joined 'L' Troop, Seventh Cavalry, an Indian troop, composed of Klowas and Comanches, on my arrival here, but roved with it only a few days, when I was appointed post quartermaster and post commissary, which position I have continued to fill. I am exceedingly busy, and have no time for recreation and amusement, such, for instance, as hunting.

"On the 10th of this month I received my long-delayed promotion, and am now a first leutenant of cavalry and assigned to the Sixth Cavalry.

"I rather expect to be transferred from this post some time this winter, but do not know where I will go; perhaps to Fort Myer, Va., as my troop, 'H, Sixth Cavalry, is at present statloned there."

Superintendent Thompson was excused from the penalty imposed by the rules for allowing his name to be used at the Mc-Gill Catholic Union Fair.

Mr. Graham B. Hobson returned to the city yesterday morning from a most pleasant visit to Galveston, Texas. Al-though he spent the eventful Tuceday, the 6th, in the Lone Star State, he had not heard of the big Republican land-side when he reached the city yesterday.

PROPOSED UNION OF METHODISTS AND CHRISTIANS.

A Committee Appointed to Meet With One From the Latter Denomination_Three Republicans for the Senate.

WINSTON, N. C., Nov. 27.—Special.—
The North Carolina Methodist Protestant Conference closed its annual session at Asheboro last night. There were twenty-eight changes made in the appointments. During the past conference year there were 1.252 additions to the churches, 572 members were also received on probation. One of the most important questions that came up for discussion during the session was a proposition for the union of the Christian (O'Kelleyite) and Methodist Protestant churches in North Carolina. A committee of five was appointed to meet with a similar committee from the Christian and draw up plans to be submitted to the next conference. The report of the committee, it is thought, will be to recommend either a co-operative or organic union of the two denominations. A request was made from the Board of Foreign Missions for the loan of Rev. T. M. Johnson as missionary to Japan. This was not granted.

T. M. Johnson as missionary to the second of the conference will be held at Greensboro.

The Western North Carolina Methodist Episcopal Conference will convene at Statesville to-morrow. The pastors from Winston have creditable reports to make. Centenary church paid assessments amounting to over seven thousand dollars. CANDIDATES FOR THE SENATE.

Three Republicans, candidates for United States senator—Judge Russell, of Wilmington; State Chairman A. E. Hot-ton and ex-Congressman Brower, of Mt. Airy—are in Winston attending court.

Presented With a Bask t of Flowers.

Friendship Lodge, No. 10, I. O. O. F., held its regular meeting last evening, which was largely attended, not only by its members but also by a number of visitors from Danville, who were escorted by Mr. Manly B. Ramos, the grand patriarch of the order. The meeting was presided over by Mr. T. Wiley-Davis, the grand secretary. A number of speeches were made, and flowers were distributed among those present. Finally, Mr. John W. Fergusson, the grand treasure, arose and with a very handsome speech, in which he highly complimented the work done by the younger members of the order, presented Mr. Ramos, on behalf of the lodge, with a beautiful basket of chrysanthemums and roses.

Mr. Ramos was completely taken by surprise, but replied in a few very feeling remarks, expressing his high appreciation of the compliment paid him. Presented With a Bask t of Flowers.

A. P. V. A.

The Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities met in the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society yesterday at noon. The president, Mrs. Joseph Bryan, being absent, Mrs. Dr. Weilford presided.

A motion was made that the association co-operate with the Colonial Darnes and the Daughters of the American Revolution in subscribing fifty dollars to help furnish rooms in the building of the Virginia Historical Society. The president being absent, it was decided to take no vote upon the motion. After discussing some unimportant business and transacting regular routine work the association adjourned.

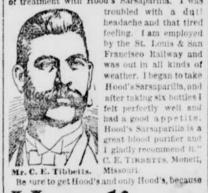

Christian Endeaver.

The monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the local union was held last night at the Y. M. C. A. Arrangements were made to hold the bi-monthly mass-meeting of the union at the Cowardin-Avenue Disciples' church, of Manchester, Friday evening, November 30th, at S. P. M.

Dr. Cooper, of the First Baptist church of this city, will make the principal address. The society securing the silk baner will have the privilege of taking it to the Staunton convention in January,
